

Found, Made, Figured Out: Curious Objects

Carol Blackwell

Carol Blackwell is an abstract painter and printmaker who is best known for mysteriously curious three dimensional boxes and sculptures devised from found materials. Her obsession with objects both found and re-fashioned, inspire many different genres of her work, including experimental handmade books. It serves also as the title of many courses she has taught and still teaches at NewArtCenter and at Danforth Art Museum School. Over the past ten years her art has been exhibited in solo and juried group exhibits at Holzwasser Gallery NewtonArtCenter, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, in Barcelona, Spain, Radcliffe Institute, Harvard University, Heywood Gallery, Danforth Museum Student Gallery, Newton Free Library, The Asian Gallery, Beyond the Book Exhibits at several BLP libraries, and Brickbottom Gallery. Her work is in private collections in Maine, Boston, Florida, Connecticut, D.C. and California.

MATERIALS LIST

- Sharp scissors
- Craft knife
- Adhesives: glue stick, Tacky Glue, wood bonding glue,
- Wipes
- Working Materials, i.e. found objects, various papers, cardboard, fabric, wire, twine, etc.
- Anything you want to work with, including old unresolved paintings, etc.