Inspired by local observations, the images reflect the emotions and experiences of diverse people, including kids playing on stoops and in city parks, subway commuters, gamblers and grooms at the horse and greyhound tracks, friends, family, and circus folk I knew when I worked as a groom for the Big Apple Circus. My images have been used in numerous publications and are featured in hospital collections, including the Journal of Addiction Medicine, The Penn Review, Boston Children's Hospital, and Brigham and Women's Hospital.
